Background Information on the Funds

The Fund is an actively managed exchange-traded fund (“ETF”) that seeks income and capital appreciation. The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by employing a synthetic covered call strategy, designed to generate current income on a weekly basis while also providing exposure to the price return of the Russell 2000 Index (the “Index”) (described more below). In executing this strategy, the Fund will utilize call options that reference the Index or on passively managed ETFs that seek to track the Index’s performance (“Index ETFs”). Additionally, the Fund will invest in short-term U.S. Treasury securities and money market funds to enhance income from uninvested cash.

The Fund’s synthetic covered call strategy involves a combination of selling and purchasing call options on the Index or on one or more Index ETFs. Each business day, typically at market open or shortly thereafter, the Fund sells out-of-the-money (OTM) call options on the Index (or Index ETFs) with zero days to expiration (“0DTE”) meaning these options expire at the end of the same day they are sold. OTM options are those with a strike price above the current value of the Index. The Fund, as the option seller, receives a premium (payment from the buyer) in exchange for the option, which provides income to the Fund. When the Fund sells call options, it receives a premium, thereby generating income, but limits its potential upside from increases in the market value of the underlying asset to the sum of the option’s exercise price and the premium received. Accordingly, the Fund’s strategy generates consistent income but caps the Fund’s ability to fully participate in market gains above the exercise price.

To establish synthetic long exposure to the Index, the Fund also purchases deep-in-the-money (ITM) call options on the Index (or Index ETFs). Deep-ITM call options are those where the current Index level is substantially above the strike price, providing the Fund with price exposure to the Index’s returns, similar to owning the Index’s securities directly. This is because Deep-ITM options have a price that moves nearly one-for-one with the Index due to their high intrinsic value, effectively mirroring the Index’s performance. This synthetic structure—combining sold call options for income with purchased calls for Index exposure—characterizes the strategy as a “synthetic covered call,” as opposed to a traditional covered call, where a security is owned outright.

The Fund’s income is primarily generated by selling out-of-the-money 0DTE call options on a daily basis. The premium received from these call options contributes to the Fund’s income, but this approach may cap the Fund’s participation in potential Index gains. Specifically, if the Index appreciates beyond the strike price of the sold call options, the positions will limit the Fund’s potential upside, offsetting the gains from its long Index exposure. For example, excluding the premium from the sold call, if the Fund sells call options 1% out-of-the-money and the Index appreciates by 3% on a given day, the Fund’s net return will be 1%. This is equal to the 3% gain from its long call exposure, reduced by the 2% loss on its sold call options.

This strategy effectively converts a portion of the potential growth in the Index’s price return into current income, balancing income generation with limited exposure to the Index’s upside. Conversely, if the Index declines, the premiums earned on sold call options may partially offset losses from the Fund’s synthetic long position.

Generally, Rules 101 and 102 of Regulation M prohibit any “distribution participant” and its “affiliated purchasers” from bidding for, purchasing, or attempting to induce any person to bid for or purchase any security which is the subject of a distribution until after the applicable restricted period, except as specifically permitted in Regulation M. The provisions of the Rules apply to underwriters, prospective underwriters, brokers, dealers, and other persons who have agreed to participate or are participating in a distribution of securities.

The SEC has granted an exemption from Rule 101 under Regulation M to permit persons participating in a distribution of shares of the above-mentioned Fund to engage in secondary market transactions in such shares during their participation in such a distribution. Further, the SEC has clarified that the tender of Fund Shares to the Fund for redemption does not constitute a bid for or purchase of any of the Fund’s securities during the restricted period of Rule 101. The SEC has also granted an exemption pursuant to paragraph (e) of Rule 102 under Regulation M to allow the redemption of Fund Shares in Creation Unit Aggregations during the continuous offering of Shares.

Rule 10b-10 (Customer Confirmations for Creation or Redemption of Fund Shares)

The composition of the securities required to be tendered to the Fund for creation purposes and of the securities to be delivered on redemption will be disseminated each business day and will be applicable to requests for creations or redemption, as the case may be, on that day. This exemptive relief under Rule 10b-10 with respect to creations and redemption is subject to the following conditions:

- 1) Confirmations to customers engaging in creations or redemptions must state that all information required by Rule 10b-10 will be provided upon request
- 2) Any such request by a customer for information required by Rule 10b-10 will be filed in a timely manner, in accordance with Rule 10b-10(c); and
- 3) Except for the identity, number, and price of shares of the component securities of the Deposit Securities and Redemption Securities, as described above, confirmations to customers must disclose all other information required by Rule 10b-10(a).

For broker-dealers that engage in the creation of Shares, the SEC has also taken a no-action position under Rule 11d1-2 that will cover the extension or maintenance or the arrangement for the extension or maintenance of credit on the Shares that have been owned by the persons to whom credit is provided for more than 30 days.

In addition, a no-action position has been taken under Rule 14e-5 if a broker-dealer acting as a dealer-manager of a tender offer for a security of the Fund purchases or arranges to purchase such securities in the secondary market for the purpose of tendering such securities to purchase one or more Creation Unit Aggregations of Shares, if made in conformance with the following:

- 1) such bids or purchases are effected in the ordinary course of business, in connection with a basket of 20 or more securities in which any security that is the subject of a distribution, or any reference security, does not comprise more than 5% of the value of the basket purchase; or
